

Living your promise

St. Joseph Pewamo

The baptismal promise of raising your newborn in the Catholic faith is one that you will keep in many different ways. Praying together, sharing Bible stories, being an example, attending Mass – these all play a role. At our school, we're here to help you with one of the most important ways of passing on the faith – Catholic education. By the time your child reaches school age, we hope you know all about us. In anticipation of that, we've prepared this fact sheet for you about your parish school.
